JAPANESE STUDENTS PERFORM IN THE ANCIENT GREEK LANGUAGE

The Classical Drama Society at Tokyo University has organized the production of EPITREPONTES (Men at Arbitration), an ancient Greek comedy by Menander, presented in Tokyo on March 25 and 26, 2015 and in Kyoto on September 26 and 27, 2015. The play is in the ancient Greek language, even though the students (the director and the actors) didn't even know how to pronounce the Greek alphabet before taking on the project. The students also received helpful assistance by Professor Yasunori Kasai, as well as other professors in the Department of Contemporary Literature and Greek and Latin Studies. Students at the Department of Classical Studies organized the Classical Drama Society in May 2014.
